Dear Sirs,

Exporting a non-renewable fossil-fuel resource while our nation is (supposedly) engaged in an effort to become "energy independent" is farcically wrong-headed. Extracting natural gas from the earth is damaging to the environment. If we are going to do this much damage to our environment, our own people should at least benefit from the resources so extracted.

Furthermore, the study is seriously flawed, as you very well know.

Please disapprove the export of natural gas from our United States.
